

Media Violence: How To Oppose It And Win

Action Workshop by EDUPAX
At the coming ACME Summit
Champlain College, Burlington, Vermont,
6-8 October 2006

Teacher: Jacques Brodeur (JBrodeur@edupax.org)

Title: Media Violence: How To Oppose It And Win

Category: Media Education and Classroom Activities

Saturday morning, October 7, Champlain College in Burlington, Room: Joyce 203

The use of violence by big media has nothing to do with freedom of expression. It is the result of copyright by the industry and it is used to attract viewers no matter the damages to their brains.

When being used by advertisers, producers and broadcasters of entertainment products for children and teens, it is among the most sophisticated and cruel form of child abuse.

Pokemons, Terminators, Doom, Quake, Basketball Diaries, Grand Theft Auto, Howard Sterns, South Parks, all are cultural products damaging children and teens across the continent, along with Eminem, Fifty Cents and the music industry circulating hate propaganda against women. TV and videogames have become the most child abusive babysitters in North America. The SMART

Program and the 10 Day Challenge have proven to be among the most efficient ways to help parents, students and teachers come together and oppose the media culture of violence and war.

Come find out more about these media education-related violence prevention programs!

Register now for the most important media education Summit of the year:

"Facing The Media Crisis" - <http://www.acmecoalition.org> - Oct 6-8, 2006.

Starring Bill McKibben, Diane Wilson, Amy Goodman, Bernie Sanders, David Strathairn, 50 workshops, 20 plenaries and keynotes. Limit: 500 registrants. FREE materials for the first 300 to register! Schedule and list of Action Workshops posted here:

<http://www.acmecoalition.org/documents/acme%20summit%202006/summitfinalsched.pdf>